THE PARTING OF SUMMER.

BY MRS. HEMANS.

Thou'rt bunting hence thy roses,
Glad Summer; fare-thee-well!
Thou'rt singing thy last melodies
In every wood and dell:

But in the golden sunset,
Of the latest lingering day,
Oh! tell me o'er this conquered earth
How hast thou passed away?

Brightly, sweet Summer, brightly
Thine hours have floated by
To the joyous birds of woodland boughs—
To the rangers of the sky:

And brightly in the forests,
To the wild deer bounding free;
And brightly 'midst the garden flowers,
To the happy, murmuring bee.

But how to human bosoms,
With all their hopes and fears:
And thoughts that make them eagle wings
To pierce the unborn years?

Sweet Summer! to the captive
Thou hast flown in burning dreams
Of the woods, with their hopes and leaves,
And the blue rejoicing streams:

To the wasted and the weary,
On the bed of sickness bound,
In sweet delicious fantasies,
That changed with every sound:

To the sailor on the billows,
In longings wild and vain
For the gushing founts and breezy hills,
And the home of earth again.

And unto me, glad Summer!
How hast thou flown to me?
My chainless footsteps might have kept
From the haunts of song and glee.

Thou hast flown with wayward visions,
In memories of the Dead—

In shadows from a troubled heart,

Or a sunny pathway shod:

In brief and sudden strivings
To fight a weight aside;
Midst these thy melodies have ceased,
And all thy roses died!

But oh! thou gentle Summer!

If I greet thy flowers once more,

Bring me again thy buoyancy,

Wherewith my soul should soar!

Give me to hail thy sunshine

With song and spirit free;

Or in a purer land than this

May our next meeting be!

MISCELLANEOUS.

KEEP A SECRET.

Anything revealed in confidence should be kept secret. There is no greater breach of good manners and Christian faith, than to reveal that which has been placed in the secrecy of your own bosom. What is the friend who once trusted you, and told you the secrets of his heart, has become your enemy? You are still bound to keep your word inviolate, and preserve locked in your heart the secrets confidentially made known to you. A man of principle will never betray even an enemy. He holds it a Christian duty never to reveal what in good faith was placed in his keeping. While the Albanians were at war with Philip, king of Macedon, they intercepted a letter that the King had written to his wife, Olympia. It was returned unopened, that it might not be read in public—their laws forbidding them to reveal a secret.

Among the Egyptians it was a criminal offence to reveal a secret. A priest who had been found guilty of this offence was ordered to leave the country.

Have you a secret reposed in your bosom? Reveal it not for the world. A confiding friend may tell you a hundred things, which, if whispered abroad, would bring him into contempt and ridicule, and injure his character through life. No one is so upright that he might not have committed some ungentlemanly act, or some impure offence, which may have been confided to another. The fault may have been perpetrated years ago, before the individual's character was formed, and before he had a wife and children. Would it not be a profanation of the most social duties, in a of stranger, or out of malice or revenge, to divulge a secret like this? A man's enemies would not care whether it was the fault of his thoughtless youth or his maturer years, so long as they could make a handle of it to his injury, and thus effect their purpose. Be careful, then, never, under any circumstances whatever, to repeat what has been whispered to you in the confidence of friendship. A betrayer of secrets is fit only for the society of the low and vile.

LIVE WELL.

They are only truly happy who live well—who have taken the volume of inspiration as their guide, and are beckoned on by the hand of Virtue. Do you wish to die happy? Live well. Let no hope of gain tarnish your honor; no praise blind your eyes. The man who pursues a correct course—is firm in his integrity—is a being that all respect and look up to with reverence and love.

The wealthy may be courted—the talented may be followed and honored, caressed, but the man of real virtue is loved with true affection. He may not excite the crowd, or draw after him a train of noisy admirers, but silently he exerts a great influence that will be felt as long as God exists.—Portland Bulletin.

Beginning Young—Mr. Turner, aged seven, has married Miss Brown, aged fourteen, after five years' courtship, in New Jersey.

From the St. Louis Reveille.

A Yankee in a Coal Screen.

BY JOE MILLER, JR.

In order to load the coal boats on the Lehigh canal, a short but steep inclined plane of about one hundred and fifty feet in length, is made at the chute which runs from a station house on the side of the mountain, to a large circular revolving screen. To the loaded car is attached a rope which draws up an empty car, and arrived at the screen, the lower end of the car is suddenly unbolted, and the coal is shot with great velocity into hopper; this conveys it directly into the screen, which has three large chambers, through which coal of as many sizes is riddled out, and shot, by scuppers, into just as many boats, waiting for different descriptions of the article.

A few months since, a Yankee of the genuine breed, quite inquisitive, but more verdant than a Yankee should be, gained the station house, and gazed with wonder at the contrivances. He peculiarly admired the swiftness with which the loaded car descended and emptied its load, and the velocity with which it returned to give place to another.

Shortly his attention was attracted by seeing a laborer mount one of the full cars about to make the descent.

"Going to slide?" inquired he.

"Yes, going to chute: won't you go?"

"Well, I guess I'll stop a bit, and see you do it."

The car swiftly descended, and, ere it reached the hopper, the passenger jumped off safely.

"Do you do that often?" inquired he of one of the laborers in the station house.

"Oh, yes, continually," was the waggish answer, "you know most all the boatmen are single men, and as they often have orders for 'family coal,' we always send down a married man with every car of that kind, to let 'em know."

"Wal, now, du tell," uttered the eastern man.

The more the Yankee looked at the apparatus, the more did he become convinced that it would be a great thing to go down the steep in that way—something that he could tell "to hum."

Plucking up courage, he approached the superintendent.

"That beats skedlin' down hill, don't it?"

"I 'spose it does."

"You couldn't let a feller go down, could you?"

"Why, do you think you can jump off in time?"

"Oh, yes, I'm reckoned considerable of a jumper—jumpin' does me good; I once jumped off a hay mow thirty feet high, and it made me so supple that I'm going to be the best dancer in the hul township."

"Well, get on, and take care of yourself."

Suddenly the car moved off, and our friend found the speed so fearful, and the declivity so great, that he was forced to stoop down and grasp the sides of his vehicle for support. The place where the laborer had leapt off was reached, but the Yankee was not in the position to jump; he had to hold on, and, running down a descent three times as steep as that which he had come, a sudden click shot the bolt, and, with a violent force, cut went the contents, Yankee included, into the hopper.

"Murder! get me out! stop the consarn!" shouted our hero, as he fel himself sliding down the hopper to the cylinder. "Murder! stop the consarn—I'll be killed!" But the motive power of the "consarn" was water, which had no sympathy with those who pursue knowledge under difficulties, and those who saw were too distant and too much censured with laughter to yield assistance.

Mr. Dent, in a lecture delivered before the London Royal Institute, made an allusion to the formation of a watch, and stated that a watch consists of 992 pieces; and that 23 trades, and probably 215 persons are employed in making one of those machines. The iron, of which the balance spring is formed, is valued at something less than a farthing; this produces an ounce of steel, worth 4d., which is drawn into 22,500 yards of steel wire, and represents in the market £13 4s.; but still another process of hardening this originally farthing-worth of iron, renders it workable into 7650 balance springs, which will realize at the common price of 2s. 5d. cash, to £516 5s., the effect of labor alone. Thus it may be seen the mere labor bestowed upon one farthing's worth of iron gives it the value of £950 5s., or $1532, which is 75,850 times its original value.

The project for a railroad from Pittsburgh to Cleveland continues the subject of lively interest among capitalists in these two cities and other places along the proposed route.

A sufficient amount of stock has been subscribed to insure the completion of the Eastern section of the road at an early day, and it is the intention of the Directors, we learn from the Wellsville Patriot, to put that part of the road under contract in a few weeks.

Beautiful Moral.—In Longfellow's Hyperion, that casket of rare and sparkling gems, we have the following beautiful moral deduced from the story of the hero: "Look not mournfully into the past—it comes not back again. Wisely improve the present—it is thine. Go forth to meet the shadowy future without fear, and with a manly heart."

Extraordinary Instance of Gambling.—A colored sinner, on board a steamboat running between St. Louis and New Orleans, having lost all his money at poker with his companions, staked his clothing, and bring still unfortunate, pledged his freedom for a small amount.

Losing this, the bets were doubled, and finally, at one desperate hazard, ventured his full value as a slave, and laid down his free papers to represent the stake.

He lost, suffered his certificates to be destroyed,—and was actually sold by the winner to a slave dealer, who hesitated not to take him at a small discount upon his assessed value.

A Singular Confession.—A most singular disclosure or confession of robbery has been made by a young man in this country. In the year 1813, during the carnival, two crowns of gold, studded with diamonds, valued at over $50,000, were stolen from the Church of Sainte Marie in Aix la-Chapelle, France.

The Cure of this Church has lately received a letter from Boston, in which a young man well known at Aix la-Chapelle, offers to return the property in perfect condition provided a yearly pension is settled upon him, and that an agent comes to Boston to receive the lost treasure.

"Never be critical upon the ladies," was the maxim of an old Irish peer, recent past—it comes not back again. Wisely improve the present—it is thine. Go forth to meet the shadowy future without fear, and with a manly heart."

ROBERT G. HARPER, EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

COL DUNCAN AT MONTEREY.

The New Orleans Delta has the following anecdote of Lt. Col. Duncan:

Lieut. Col. Duncan, of the battalion of artillery, as at Palo Alto and Resaca de la Palma, signalized himself for his bravery at the battle of Monterey. Col. Duncan is known not to be very fastidious in his dress—rather negligent, in matters of the toilet—and this led to a rather ludicrous error at the interview or parley between Generals Taylor and Ampudia, at which many of the officers of both armies were present, and Lieut. Col. Duncan by the invitation of Gen. Taylor. He was unshaven: wore a shocking bad palmetto hat, and seemed to have much more of the "I-do-as-I-please" air of the Texan ranger than he had of an officer of high rank among the regulars. As he entered the audience-chamber with his usual air of abandon, the Mexican officers seemed to have been suddenly and simultaneously operated on by an electrifying machine. They would look at Duncan and whisper to one another, and then look and whisper again. At length, Don Jose Maria Negriti, a busy little Mark Meddle of a fellow, one of Ampudia's aids, who spoke English passing well, stepped up to one of Gen. Taylor's staff, and pointing to Lieut. Col. Duncan, begged to be informed "if that was not Capt. Walker?"

"No," replied the lawyer, "Well, I had a reason for asking."

The next time he saw the girl's father, he said, "I have inquired about this young man's circumstances.

He has indeed, no ready money, but he has a jewel for which, to my knowledge, he has been offered and refused twenty thousand dollars."

This induced the old father to consent to the marriage, which accordingly took place; though it is said in the sequel he often shook his head when he thought of the jewel.—Boston Transcript.

Don't be too Particular.—An Irishman once dreamt that he visited the Lord Mayor of London, who treated him with the greatest hospitality, and asked him if he wouldn't "take little su'thin'." He replied that he wouldn't mind a little whiskey punch. "Hot or cold?" inquired his Lordship. His guest preferred it warm, but while the Lord Mayor was out heating the water, the Irishman awoke from his delicious slumber. "Och!" cried he, comprehending what a fool he was to wait for hot punch during the precarious tenure of a dream, "how I wish I'd said couldn't!"

PACIFIC EMIGRANTS.

Thirty-seven Germans, from Berlin, Prussia, consisting of eleven men, ten women, and sixteen children, have arrived at Bangor, Me., in a vessel from St. Thomas. They went to St. Thomas in a Hamburg brig, in company with thirteen others, having been induced to abandon their native land by hopes which were held out to them, that their condition would be better by emigrating to the Mosquito Shore. Nearly three thousand dollars of funds were swindled from them by the knaves who induced them to emigrate, and they arrived at St. Thomas destitute and friendless. The citizens of that island contributed about seven hundred dollars for their relief, and they sailed for Bangor in the hope of obtaining some asylum in this country.

They were deposited in the hands of the City Council of that city all the money which was given them at St. Thomas, to constitute a fund for the purchase of land, on which to found a colony, in that neighborhood.

Seven of the men are mechanics—two shoe-makers, one cabinet maker, one wood-turner, one blacksmith, one mason and one gardener.

They are reported to be healthy, temperate, and intelligent, and their case presents another evidence of the heartlessness and want of honesty in some of the foreign passenger agents, who will scruple at no de ception in order to make money out of the ignorant.—Boston Daily Advertiser.

A Letter in the Newark Daily Advertiser, dated at Easton, Pa. Oct. 9, says—

The Mauch Chunk stage was upset

last evening near Bath, while descending a hill, and was dashed into fragments.

There were eleven passengers, and yet strange to say, no lives were lost!

The Rev. T. L. Cuyler was badly bruised, and a daughter of Mr. Derr, of Whites

Haven, had her ear cut to pieces.

The driver was badly injured, and many trunks broken into splinters.

The preservation of so many lives, under these circumstances, was remarkable.

Vermont.—The new Legislature of Vermont convened at Montpelier on Thursday, 8th inst., and the Senate was organized by choosing Hon. George T.

Hedges, of Rutland county, President,</

ADAMS SENTINEL.

GETTYSBURG:

Monday, October 26, 1846.

An active, intelligent, industrious lad, desirous of learning the Printing business, can obtain a situation in this office by making early application. None need apply but a lad of correct moral principle.

Congressional Election.

(OFFICIAL)

Nos.	Rankin.

2394	2063
3984	2866
2866
Nes' majority,	1118

On Wednesday last, Mr. HINTZELMAN, the new Commissioner, was inducted to office. Mr. DIXON is the retiring Commissioner. Mr. Auginbaugh was re-appointed Clerk.

Pennsylvania Volunteers.

It has been rumored that the Pennsylvania Volunteers had been called out for service in Mexico. The Harrisburg Union contradicts it on authority—no such order had been received by the Executive.

The news by the steamer Caledonia had a considerable effect on the market for bread-stuffs in Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York. Flour advanced 30 to 75 cents. Wheat and Corn also went up. Prices are still, however, rather unsettled.

Thanksgiving Day.

The Governor of Pennsylvania has issued a proclamation appointing and recommending Thursday the 26th day of November next, to be observed as "day of Thanksgiving to Almighty God for his goodness vouchsafed to us during the past year."

The Lancaster Murder.

The account we gave last week of the horrid murders in Lancaster, is confirmed in all its important particulars. The child lived but a few hours. Haggerty is said to have been a desperate wretch. The funeral of the murdered took place yesterday week, and was the largest ever known in Lancaster. The murderer made a desperate resistance when pursued, and flourished his axe at all who attempted to approach him. He was only secured after he had been knocked down by a stone. He was then bound by a cord, and taken to jail.

Distressing Calamity.

On Friday night week, the house of Mr. Daniel Gayman, on the Susquehanna, about five miles above Harrisburg, took fire, and Mr. Gayman, his wife and five children, the oldest of whom was about ten years, were burned to death! Nothing is known as to how the fire was communicated. The family were sleeping on the second floor, and before they could escape were suffocated, and their bodies burned to a cinder.

Lient. Woods, one of the brave men who fell at Monterey, was a native of Lewistown, Pa. where his father, a venerable clergyman of that place, resides. His maternal grandfather was John Witherspoon, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence, and president of Princeton College. Lient. Woods was a graduate of West Point, and was, at the time he was slain, 27 years of age. In the battles of Palo Alto and Resaca de la Palma he distinguished himself as one of the bravest of the brave. He fell in the first charge at Monterey. How many gallant spirits will leave their bones in Mexico!

Distressing.

A child of Mr. James Gray, of Carlisle, was burned to death on Tuesday evening last, by its clothes taking fire from the stove. The mother had gone out and locked the door of the house to prevent the children leaving home during her absence. The little sufferer was therefore unable to escape, and was burned to a crisp. The distressed mother returned in time to see her child draw its last breath!

GRAHAM'S MAGAZINE, for November, has been received. Its embellishments are beautiful, "The Two Friends," and the Paris Fashions. A new Novel by J. Fenimore Cooper is commenced in this number, entitled "The Fleets of the Gulf," for which the publishers have given $1200. It will run through 12 or 14 numbers of the work, and it is thought will have "a run" unequalled by any thing Cooper has ever written. A new volume commences in January, but subscribers will receive the entire sheets of the Novel.

THE COLUMBIAN MAGAZINE is also on our desk—filled with choice original articles, as customary. Its embellishments are three, and beautiful—"Doctor Johnson rescuing Oliver Goldsmith from his Landlady"—"Modesty and Vanity"—and the Paris Fashions.

The U. S. steamer Gen. Taylor was destroyed by fire on the night of the 10th inst. at the Navy Yard at Pensacola. The vessel was burnt to the water edge, and will be a loss to the government of about fifteen thousand dollars.

The Harrisburg Argus, a locofoco paper, ridicules the idea that its party was defeated by the weather, on the 13th inst. It impugns the change to the deception in 1814, and the action of Congress in 1816 on the Tariff.

The Baltimore committee appointed to go to Point Isabel for the remains of Maj. Ringgold, start to-day on the Western route to New Orleans. The rail road company and stage proprietors have furnished them with a free passage.

OHIO ELECTION.

Cheering News from the Buck-eye State. The election in Ohio has resulted gloriously for the Whigs. Mr. BROWN, the Whig candidate for Governor, has been re-elected by a majority of about 2000 over Mr. Tod (Locofoco.) The Whigs will also have a majority in joint ballot of the Legislature. The Representatives in Congress will stand 12 Whigs, 8 Locos, and 1 Independent Tariff Democrat. The present delegation stands 8 Whigs to 13 Locofocos. This makes a locofoco loss of FIVE MEMBERS! The Abolition vote in the State was upwards of 15,000 votes!

Florida Whig!

The returns of the late election for Representative in Congress from the State of Florida, leave no doubt that John C. Calhoun, a sound and consistent Whig, has been elected to Congress from that State, to succeed the present Locofoco Representative.

Arrival of the Caledonia.

The steamer Caledonia arrived at Boston on Tuesday night, in 15 days from Liverpool. She brings the satisfactory information that the steamer Great Britain, about whose safety so much apprehension has been felt, has not been lost. The Great Britain left Liverpool on the 22d ult. for New York, with 185 passengers on board, and on the same night went ashore at Rathmullan, in Dunderby bay, on the coast of Ireland. The passengers were all safely landed, and her cargo also. The mail bags were brought by the Caledonia. A large number of passengers proceeded to Warren Point, and others to Downpatrick, with the intention of returning to Liverpool. The scene of the 24th presented one which that little Irish town never before witnessed. Amongst the passengers were the distinguished "Vienna Dancers," 48 in number. Every exertion was being made to get the Great Britain off, but it had not been successful at the last accounts.

In Ireland every means were being taken to find the people employment, which is equivalent to finding them with food elsewhere; nevertheless there have been some famine riots in various parts of Ireland.

The market for all kinds of produce continued buoyant, and at rapidly advancing prices.

An interesting letter from the Rev. Mr. BRAINARD, of Philadelphia, who was on board the Great Britain when she went ashore on the coast of Ireland, appears in the last U. S. Gazette. It would seem from Mr. B.'s letter that their situation was a most fearful one, worse than even the Great Western's. The night was dark, the wind was tempestuous, the rain pouring down, the vessel dashing upon the rocks every few minutes for a long period of seven hours, the waves breaking over her continually, and the Captain ignorant of where they were! All conspired to banish from their minds any hope of being saved; and religious exhortation and prayer were resorted to, as in the Great Western, with the most soothing and calming effect. The vessel was finally guided to a beach in the morning, and all were saved. There were more than 300 on board.

A Member Elect Dead.

JOHN L. WEIR, Esq. the member elect to the Legislature from Bradford county, died suddenly since the election.

The Register and Recorder elect of Blair county, died on the day of election.

Gen. Scott.

A Washington letter says: "We learn from an officer of the army, that Gen. Scott, a few days ago, applied to the President for the privilege of heading the army of invasion, under the new plan of operations with the land forces, but that the Executive declined his application on the ground that the services of the Major General in Chief would be as advantageous to the Government at the War office as at the head of the army."

A Washington letter in the N. Y. Journal of Commerce, speaking of the Mexican war, says:

As to the results of the war, they must be a subject of speculation. They are not better known to the Government than to any private individual; and, so far has the movement gone, that the Government cannot control its results.

To arrest the war, at its present stage, would be impracticable even if desired and agreed to by the governments both of Mexico and the United States.

The "tumultuous population" of the Mississippi valley have taken into their hands the conquest of Mexico—and they will have it—and the whole of it,—with or without the co-operation of the government of the United States.

Destiny is at work. The folly and blindness of Mexico on one side, and the impulses of the American population on the other side, will insure the speedy conquest of all Mexico. It is of little importance what the administration may do in this war—whether they manage it well or ill—for all that was wanted was to set the ball in motion.

The sacrifice of Taylor and all his force, at San Luis—an event likely enough—will but hasten and insure the destruction of Mexican nationality.

The U. S. steamer Gen. Taylor was destroyed by fire on the night of the 10th inst. at the Navy Yard at Pensacola. The vessel was burnt to the water edge, and will be a loss to the government of about fifteen thousand dollars.

The Harrisburg Argus, a locofoco paper, ridicules the idea that its party was defeated by the weather, on the 13th inst. It impugns the change to the deception in 1814, and the action of Congress in 1816 on the Tariff.

THE ADAMS SENTINEL AND GENERAL ADVERTISER.*Melancholy.

Lieut. Price, who left Camargo, with two other volunteers, about two weeks since, to join Gen. Taylor in his advance to Monterey, was killed on the road by the Mexicans. Their bodies were found lying in the grass completely riddled with bullet-holes. The bodies of SEVENTEEN MEXICAN soldiers were lying scattered around them—so that they sold their lives dear. He and his two companions were armed with revolving pistols, so that it is supposed they must have killed the seventeen Mexicans in a most desperate encounter!

Doings of the Mob in Nauvoo.—If the accounts from this unfortunate city be true—and they are from anti-Mormons—the existing state of things are to be deprecated by every citizen. Many of those who participated in the doings about Nauvoo are censoring in strong terms the conduct of that portion of the mob who remain in the city of Nauvoo. The driving off the new citizens and refusing to suffer them to return—the ducking in the river of whom they please—the breaking open of houses and ransacking them—the searching of inhabited houses, &c., to say nothing of the report of robberies, has completely cured some of their strong sympathies for the mobocrats. It is said, with what degree of truth we know not, that Gov. Ford is about to interfere and put an end to mob rule in that devoted city.

THE MEXICAN WAR.

MILITARY MOVEMENTS.

There appears to be no doubt that the Government has, within a few weeks ordered an expedition from the Rio Grande, under General Patterson, to move down the coast, and, in co-operation with a part of the naval force blockading Vera Cruz, to take possession of the town of Tampico. This place is about two hundred and eighty miles south of Matamoras, and nearly the same distance north, from Vera Cruz. West of Tampico, about one hundred and forty miles in the interior, and near the head of the river Panuco, (at the mouth of which Tampico is situated,) lies the city of San Luis Potosi, an important point on Gen. Taylor's line of march to the city of Mexico. It is therefore highly probable that the force, or a great part of it, under Gen. Patterson, after capturing Tampico, (where they will probably meet with no serious resistance,) will advance inland and form a junction with Gen. Taylor at San Luis. If this be the plan of the Government, it will be a fortunate one: for now that the feuds and dissensions of Mexico have been reconciled, and its whole people united, by the return of SANTA ANNA, whose restoration our Government unfortunately aided or connived at, General Taylor will have need, we fear, of all the reinforcements at the command of the Government, to enable him to triumph over the impediments of so long a march through a difficult and hostile country. What energy, courage, and prudence can do, we know that General Taylor and his brave, and now severely tried army, will effect; and to these we trust, to carry him victoriously through the arduous and perilous task before him. Compelled as we are to condemn the war itself as unnecessary, and its originators as answerable for all the blood that has been shed, the hearts that have been bereaved and broken, and the treasure that has been wasted by it, we trust that our arms may every where triumph, that victory may perch upon our standards to the end, and then that the cost and sacrifices may be counted up, and our rulers called to a severe reckoning. Victory cannot repair the evils of war, but it is the only consolation left us for the sad consequences, public and domestic, which war brings in its train.—
